Corporate volunteering

Benefits for organisations

An organisation can benefit through an employee volunteering program by:

- » Reminding staff they belong to a company with a strong sense of social responsibility
- » Demonstrating your company's sustainable environment responsibility
- » Strengthening trust and loyalty among staff and customers
- » Hands on team building activities for office bound staff
- » Aligning your business with a good cause

Corporate volunteering objectives

- » To provide a hands-on activity for corporate volunteers that leads the enhancement of Brisbane's urban bushland and riparian areas.
- » To provide an atmosphere of team building and staff development
- » To set up an opportunity for organisations to reduce their carbon footprint.
- » To harness corporations to create wildlife corridors linking key biodiversity areas in Brisbane.
- » To enhance partnerships with community organisations.
- » To make a real difference

To get started

Call or email us with how many volunteers you expect and when you would like to do it and we will take it from there.
